NEAR-LYNCHING RESULT NEGRO'S INSOLENT ACT

William Johnson Shoves White Woman From Street Car Seat and Is Arrested After Long Chase in Which Angry Men Join—Spirited to County Jail.

What threatened to result in a lynching following the insolence of a colored man to a white woman was narrowly averted at Manitou last night about 7 15 o'clock when William Johnson accompanied by two colored women boarded a street car and took possession of a seat near the door attempting to hold a portion of it for his companion During the rush for seats Mrs Marie Peterson who resides at 1423 Ogden street, Denver sat down in the seat beside the negro, and he, incensed at not being able to keep half of it for his friend angrily shoved Mrs. Peterson off the seat into the aisle, where she fell to the floor The action so enraged a number of white passengers that the car teemed with furious men, who desired to punish the negro for his action

Night Marshal Everett Reed was ... at the time, and, running to the ... arrested Johnson and hurried him to the city jail A crowd had rapidly gathered and followed Reed and his prisoner down Manitou avenue, shouting and urging Reed to club the colored man At a point opposite the Navajo geyser spring, the negro jerked loose from the officer and ran toward the alley between Wilson's grocery and ...enton's drug store. Reed and a large crowd of men and boys followed Johnson proved a good sprinter, and was about to escape in the brush across Fountain creek, back of the Lennon drug company's store, when Reed fired a shot from his revolver, which caused the frightened black to surrender

By this time Detectives E. N. Wolfe and Day Marshal Jim Connell had come up, and a crowd had gathered. A burly, six-foot negro, Alva Cornell, interposed himself between Wolfe and Johnson He was immediately arrested on a charge of interfering with an officer, and the trio of officers, with their prisoners, hurried to the city jail Before the prisoners had been safely placed behind the bars, a throng of angry people had gathered, and shouts "Lynch him! Kill the coon!" were heard. Some hot-headed person in the crowd had secured a coil of rope from a neighboring livery barn, and talk of hanging was rife During this excitement, Marshal Connell managed to get his prisoners out the back door, and, with the assistance of a number of volunteer guards, reached a car and conveyed them to the county jail in this city, where they are now incarcerated

The affair occurred on Manitou car No. 66 in charge of Conductor Hudson and Motorman Higgins, whose presence of mind aided the authorities in capturing the negro. Just as Johnson shoved Mrs Peterson out of the seat, Charles S Hillerman, formerly proprietor of a Colorado Springs restaurant who was with his wife in the seat in front of Johnson, rebuked him severely for his impudence, only to meet with an insulting rejoinder This, and the rudeness of the colored man, was all that was needed to fan the anger of the passengers to flame, which waxed hotter and hotter as the struggle to catch the man continued His arrest served to appease some of the passengers, while others dismounted from the car and joined in the gathering mob of people who were threatening violence Many southern tourists from Texas and Oklahoma, in which states the colored population is obliged to ride in a separate section of the street cars, were present, and these expressed special indignation at the negro's action

When Johnson succeeded in breaking away from Officer Reed, a number of people separated from the main chase and ran down Manitou avenue to intercept the fugitive near the Mansions hotel where the jutting rocks would oblige him again to cross the Fountain creek Foremost among this number was William Arlington Manitou's poet psychic and philosopher," who stationed himself among the trees, intent on capturing the negro Had Marshal Reed's shot failed to frighten the man into submission it is hardly probable that he would have succeeded in eluding those lying in wait for him at this lower point

When the mob realized that their prey had escaped them, talk ran high in the streets

Among the more hot-headed of the crowd were several who favored boarding automobiles for Colorado Springs and intercepting the prisoners before they could be lodged in a place of safety

Johnson is employed by the Wilbur Suit company as an elevator operator while Cornell is said to be a teamster and to work with his father in that line of business When the latter was arrested by Officer Wolfe he was carrying two boulders the size of a man's fist evidently picked up as he ran Neither man had much to say for himself last night, though it was apparent from Johnson's actions that he realized he had been near to violence, and when

EXPOSITION IS GUTTED BY FLAMES

100,000 Persons Panic-Stricken as Belgian World's Fair Is Destroyed.

TWO DEAD; 30 INJURED

Band of Thieves Pillage Ruins. Loss Is Estimated at $100,000,000.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 14—Fire swept the great Belgian Exposition tonight. The flames were driven by a high wind and soon destroyed the Belgian, English and French sections. It is believed the whole exposition will be destroyed. Two are dead and 30 injured

The White City of the World's fair as the Belgians have called their 1910 exposition is tonight a mass of flames and smoldering ruins. A spark falling into inflammable material in the telephone building burst up in flames which, driven by a high wind swept rapidly in all directions

Soon the Belgian, English and French sections were destroyed The firemen and detachments of soldiers called to the scene found themselves baffled by the gale, which carried the burning embers to all parts of the grounds The loss is estimated at $100,000,000

To the left of the main building rose the picturesque roofs and spires of Bruxelles Kermesz,' a Belgian Coney Island with water chutes toboggan slides and scores of side shows This place was alive with Sunday crowds and before they could be gotten out with any semblance of order the Kermesz was afire The crowds became panic-stricken, and men women and children fought madly to escape The exits became choked with the struggling masses and men used their fists to clear the pathway

Sightseers Trampled.

Many were trampled under foot and badly injured An engine corps from Antwerp attempted to dynamite the buildings in the French section, in the hope of checking the fire but the flames leaped across and engulfed the National, Russian Austrian, Japanese, Chinese and Norwegian buildings Forty houses on the Avenue Solboch adjoining the exposition, were destroyed

At the time of the outbreak not less than 100,000 persons were circulating in the grounds and the Kermesz Troops were ordered out and came double quick to aid the police in clearing the grounds This was accomplished in fair order except within the limits of the Kermesz where the vast crowds became entangled in an almost inextricable mass fighting desperately to find an escape from the flames which swept viciously through the tinderlike structures

Soon the enormous facade crumbled in ruins Considering the rapidity of the conflagration the small loss of life is marvelous So far as is known up to a late hour tonight only two are dead The injured, as officially announced number 30 but probably many hundreds received minor hurts

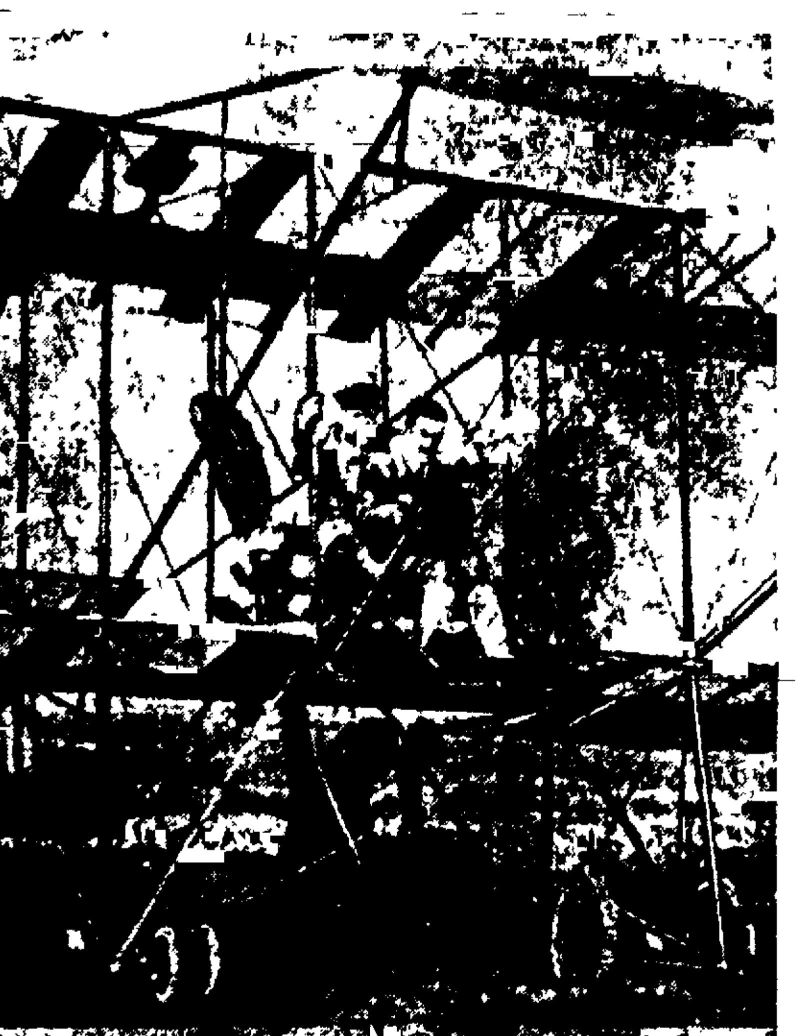

Flames Spread to Houses

As the flames reached the Menagerie it was decided to shoot the animals but the heat drove back the soldiers and the animals were left to their fate The multitudes of people were driven back to a safe distance and watched the thrilling spectacle of the destruction of the White City Tongues of flames mounted high into the heavens and flaming embers were carried off by the wind and fell upon the residences beyond setting them afire

The fire was finally gotten under control The Belgian and Egypt sections are in ruins, while all the other sections including the American, were partly destroyed

Bands of thieves engaged in pillage and a soldier was stabbed while

ROOSEVELT TO TALK WITH GRISCOM

New York Leader, It Is Thought, Brings Word From President Taft.

MAY CHANGE PARTY PLANS

Colonel Starts Western Trip Tomorrow—May Put Self on Record.

OYSTER BAY, Aug 14—Colonel Roosevelt announced today that Lloyd C Griscom chairman of the New York Republican county committee, will come to Sagamore Hill tomorrow for a conference Mr Griscom spent last night with President Taft at Beverly and although Colonel Roosevelt would not talk, it is thought that Mr. Griscom will come to Sagamore Hill as the bearer of an important message from President Taft The conference, therefore will be of more than usual importance

The colonel would add nothing to the bare announcement that Mr Griscom was to come except to say that he had read with great interest the dispatches from Beverly intimating that Mr Taft is expecting Secretary Ballinger to resign and that Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon in the future are to be in less direct contact with the administration He refused to give his views on this subject, or to say whether the message which Mr. Griscom bears constitutes another step in the administration's program for readjusting conditions within the party.

Readjustment Expected.

It is believed here however that as a result of Mr Griscom's visit the exact relations between the President and the former President will be more clearly defined even though no public announcement be made Since Colonel Roosevelt's return from Africa he has resolutely avoided placing himself on record in regard to the Taft administration He has seen the President only once and then for a comparatively short time during his visit to Boston. So far as known no messages have passed between them since that time, and it is believed that Mr. Taft desires to ascertain where his predecessor stands particularly in view of the national campaign which is soon to get under way

Mr Roosevelt's western trip is to start on Tuesday of next week. During the trip it is expected that he will place himself on record in regard to a number of matters of interest to the country and the Republican party. One of them will be the conservation of natural resources

President May Talk.

While it is believed that the former President will not have one word of criticism of the administration in any of these speeches there is good ground for the assumption that he will not depart from the vigorous stand for conservation which he assumed while he was President Whatever may be the tenor of Mr Griscom's message from the President it may be said that Colonel Roosevelt will proceed with the program which it is known he has mapped out for himself Mr. Roosevelt said today that he had decided on a third long trip Sometime in March he will go from coast to coast on a trip that will occupy about one month The colonel said that while he was in Africa eight months ago, he had accepted an invitation from President Wheeler of the University of California to speak at the university on Charter day next March He will go by the southern route. Only one speech has been definitely settled on

MAY POSTPONE OPENING DEEP DRAINAGE TUNNEL

Thick Steel Plate Interferes With Drilling of Hole From El Paso Shaft to the Bore.

Because the drillers in the tap hole of the El Paso mine connecting with the bore of the Roosevelt deep drainage tunnel some days ago unexpectedly struck a thick sheet of steel left by muckers before the mine was flooded, it is possible that the big celebration which was to have been held some time between August 29 and September 2 will be indefinitely postponed If that is done, it will mean that Theodore Roosevelt whose presence at the celebration was felt to be practically assured, will be unable to be present as he is to be in the state only a few days at the time of his western visit

President Burris of the El Paso company said last night that so far they had been unable to get the casing of the drill to the steel plate, which is about three-quarters of an inch in thickness, but that he expected that today they would get to it and pierce it If an average of 35 feet per day is then maintained until September 1 the celebration can be held on time Mining men throughout the district are awaiting with anxiety the outcome of today's efforts

That Roosevelt will be present at the opening if it can be arranged as scheduled seems practically certain for word has come to the directors of the new Y M C A building in Pueblo that he has accepted their invitation to lay the cornerstone on August 29 The deep drainage tunnel celebrants therefore feel sure that he will not refuse to take part in the opening of the bore since he is to be so near the scene and is so interested in such work

RELATION OF U. S. TO WARDS

RIGHTS OF 30,000 INDIANS AT ISSUE.

Secretary of State Will Have Busy Week Over Citizenship, Etc.

WASHINGTON, Aug 14—With the rights of some 30,000 Indians in question, the secretary of state will begin consideration during the first week of the approaching term of some of the most perplexing problems arising out of the relation of the United States to its wards Among those are questions of citizenship and of authority over the lands of the individual Indians

In 1902 Congress passed an act for the allotment to the individual Indians of the Cherokee tribal land in Oklahoma

One restriction was laid upon the lands allotted to citizens that they shall not in any manner whatever or at any time ... taken or sold to secure or satisfy any debts or obligations or be alienated by the allottee or his heirs before the expiration of five years from the date of the ratification of this act

Constitutionality Questioned

In 1904 Congress authorized the secretary of the interior to grant a right of way for oil and gas pipe lines through the lands thus allotted to the Indians In 1906 the five year restriction imposed in 1902 was extended to 25 years The question of the constitutionality of the acts of 1904 and of 1906 was raised and Congress authorized two Indians William Brown and Levi B Gritts to bring suit to test the laws The court of claims held the law to be constitutional An appeal was taken to the supreme court On account of the importance of the cases the court set a date for argument on the opening day of the coming October term or as soon thereafter as possible

Judge Howry of the minority of the court of claims pointed out that the Indians had been made citizens of the United States prior to the allotment

When the land was granted he said the character of the title allotted to the full bloods was the same as if allotted to other citizens The title of the one became as unqualified as the title of the other and any attempt to differentiate between the fees so held can be sustained only upon the ground that the Indians can never acquire such a right to land as the government is bound to respect"

ISSUE SPLITS BOTH PARTIES

NEBRASKA DIVIDED AS TO TEMPERANCE.

Propose to Substitute County Option for Present Local Option Law.

OMAHA Aug 14—Next Tuesday the statewide primaries of all the political parties in Nebraska will be held The campaign for nominations on the Republican and Democrat tickets has been spirited and the candidates numerous

The temperance issue as involved in the proposition to substitute county option for the present local option law has split both parties and the situation has been further complicated by insurgency in the Republican and the personality of William J Bryan in the Democratic party

Full state and county tickets are to be named as well as candidates for members of Congress and party candidates for United States senator to succeed Senator Elmer J Burkett will be chosen under the Oregon plan Many candidates for places on the senatorial and legislative tickets have pledged themselves to abide by the decision of the voters on this question at the primaries

The question of county option was brought before state conventions of both parties Although opposed by most of the leaders of what is known as the regular faction of the party it was adopted by a large majority of the Republican delegates On the other hand in spite of the vigorous support of Mr Bryan the Democratic convention declared against it The contest for the Democratic indorsement for United States senator has been most vigorous between Gilbert M Hitchcock present congressman from the Second (Omaha) district and owner of the principal Democratic newspaper of the state and Richard L Metcalfe editor of Mr Bryan's paper Willis E Reed is also a candidate

For the Republican senatorial indorsement there are five candidates For the gubernatorial nomination the Democrats have two candidates—strenuous campaigners with strong followings the present governor Ashton Shallenberger and James C Dahlman, the cowboy mayor of Omaha

Unalterable opposition to county option is Dahlman's slogan while Shallenberger takes a more conciliatory position agreeing to sign such a bill if passed by the legislature There are three Republican candidates for this honor but their campaign has been made more on personal grounds

Congressman John R Matta, Democrat and George Norris, insurgent Republican have no opposition in their own parties

Congressman Moses P Kinkaid Republican has a fight on hand for the nomination Congressmen Hitchcock and Hinshaw are seeking renomination

A CONFERENCE BY LEADERS

CANNON SUPPORTERS TO SEE PRESIDENT.

Administration Wishes to Come Into Closer Touch With the West.

BEVERLY Aug 14—Senator Crane of Massachusetts, who has been the prominent central figure in the group of events that have spread reports of a coming readjustment in certain circles of the Republican party is coming to Beverly Tuesday to make a personal report to Mr Taft regarding his recent mission

Senator Crane has not been at the summer capital since he went west to meet Secretary Ballinger and to Warwick, R I, to talk with Senator Aldrich about that rubber statement

Mr Taft made no public comment upon any phase of the situation

Senator Crane's visit is to be followed by calls from Vice President Sherman and Representative Loudenslager of New Jersey Both Mr Sherman and Mr Loudenslager are known as warm friends and supporters of Speaker Cannon Representative McKinley of Illinois, chairman of the congressional committee also is expected at Beverly this week

One of the main objects of the proposed new order of things it can be stated is to bring the administration more in touch with the west This probably is due to the important position that Secretary Norton has assumed in the affairs of the administration Mr Norton is from Chicago, and he is acquainted with the views of the people who live in that section

There is a report around Beverly that Representative Nicholas Longworth has developed some near-insurgent leanings of late and he too it is said is being consulted about the new order

Some significance may be attached to the fact that Mr Taft will have a meeting of his cabinet in Washington September 10 By that time the report of the Ballinger investigating committee may have been made public

Florence Nightingale, First Woman War Nurse, Is Dead

LONDON, Aug 14—Florence Nightingale, the famous nurse of the Crimean war and the only woman who ever received the Order of Merit, died yesterday afternoon at her London home

Although she had been an invalid for a long time, rarely leaving her room, her death was somewhat unexpected A week ago she was quite sick, but then improved and on Friday was cheerful During that night alarming symptoms developed and she gradually sank until 2 o'clock Saturday when an attack of heart failure brought the end

Her funeral will be as quiet as possible, in accordance with her wishes

During recent years, owing to her feebleness and advanced age Miss Nightingale had received but few visitors On May 12 last she celebrated her ninetieth birthday.

Florence Nightingale was born May 12 1820 She was the first woman to follow a modern army into battle as a nurse and in the Crimean war gained the title of "Angel of the Crimea"

At the close of the war she was enabled, by a testimonial fund amounting to $250,000, to found an institution for the training of nurses, the Nightingale home at St Thomas She was also the means of calling attention to the unsanitary conditions of camp hospitals

In 1908 she received the freedom of the city of London, and King Edward bestowed upon her the Order of Merit the most exclusive distinction in the gift of the British sovereign The membership of the order is limited to 24 and it includes such men as Lord Roberts, Lord Wolseley Field Marshal Kitchener, James Bryce, Prince Yamagata and Admiral Togo.

Forest Fires Reach Alarming Proportions in Northwest

SPOKANE, Wash, Aug 14—Settlers on the Big creek of the St Joe river in the Coeur d'Alene district, Idaho are reported to have been driven from their homes by the ravages of forest fires, and Joseph Burzinsky and wife are missing The settlers who escaped say that the Burzinsky home was one of the first in the path of the flames and the fact that the Burzinskys have not since been seen or heard from leads to the belief they were caught and have perished The greater part of this settlement has been wiped out. In the St Joe district the flames have been fanned to redoubled fury by high winds and that nothing but rain can check them.

A special from Stiles, Ida tonight says the situation in the Elk City district is the worst in the history of that region Under the influence of the high winds prevailing in the mountains for the last two days and nights the forest fires are burning briskly The whole country in the vicinity of Elk City is ablaze The town is cut off from communication from the outside world and surrounded by fire

The fires on Ten Mile which were supposed to have been burned out, have been fanned into activity again ... [illegible] the Selway and one on Eldorado creek

Both are in dense timber and are sweeping through the forests faster than a man can walk No word was received today from the 50 men who went to the reserve of the settlers on Squaw creek

The police believe that the girl's life was taken by one or more persons who entered the house with the intention of robbery It is thought that the girl was awakened and the murder committed to prevent her giving an alarm No trace of the murderer has been found

All the jewelry and other valuables belonging to the family had been hidden and none have been missed Miss Benigus was to have been married to Earl Livingston of Topeka tomorrow evening

Livingston has been spending his vacation in Salina, where he was when the murder was committed.

ROCKY FORD HAS ITS EXHIBITS PREPARED

Will Make a Fine Showing at Eighteenth National Irrigation Congress at Pueblo, Sept. 26-30.

PUEBLO Colo, Aug 14—While various sections of the state of Colorado are vying with each other for supremacy in the character of their exhibits for the National Irrigation exposition, September 19-October 1 at this place, in connection with the Eighteenth National Irrigation congress, September 26-30, and trying to be foremost in preparing the same, Rocky Ford, in the Arkansas valley, has practically got its exhibit all arranged

W W Kearney is director of the local exhibit at Rocky Ford and he is now proudly exhibiting his showing for the big event at Pueblo He has it put away in a good safe place at Rocky Ford, and shows it off to strangers each day

There are 35 different displays of grasses all tastily arranged, and all showing off Otero and Rocky Ford district possibilities to good advantage There are 15 varieties of wheat, oats, and barley, of flax and of alfalfa

There are also melantus, timothy orchard grass, wild rye, clover millet, speltz and various others

Besides, Rocky Ford has exhibits of its famous fruit and truck, and will have still other features in its splendid showing at Pueblo

Meanwhile the country to the north of Rocky Ford, on the Missouri Pacific main line, is not behind, and is spending a good deal of money under the direction of experts to arrange suitable exhibits that will prove the efficiency of the soil and climate of the famous Olney-Ordway Sugar City district.

Holly has spent a good deal of money, mostly for local prizes for fine exhibits, and is rapidly collecting the various items into one big, fine exhibit Lamar and other places are doing the same.

On the western slope, there is the same activity, principally as to fine fruit displays, and in the San Luis valley a meeting of the San Luis valley commercial association this week will take definite steps toward a comprehensive demonstration on the part of that section

Northern Colorado is also manifesting interest and will not be found wanting, letters daily received here state

The rivalry of Colorado sections over the exposition also enhances the irrigation congress and insure fine attendance from all over the state at both the big events in Pueblo the last two weeks of September

FOUR KILLED AT SEA IN BOILER EXPLOSION

Life-Saving Crew Alarmed by Means of Skyrockets—Schooner Phoenix a Derelict.

POINT ARENA, Aug 14—Four men were killed late last night when the boilers of the steam schooner Phoenix blew up at sea about 10 miles north of Point Arena lighthouse Two of the dead—Chief Engineer Thomas Houston and Second Mate Andrew Rasmussen—reached shore with the survivors on the vessel, but died this morning of their injuries The mangled bodies of two seamen—Chris Hansen and William Nicholsen—rile tonight in the demolished engine room of their waterlogged ship as she floats at sea, a derelict

The Phoenix was making her way slowly southward against a brisk wind in a choppy sea When the explosion came the mate and the engineer were hurled to the floor toward the fire boxes, and Chief Officer Louis Larsen was torn from his post on the bridge and his body sent hurling through the air 30 feet to the deck below The sailors forward and Capt Peter Haversen, seated in his cabin were tossed about in their quarters by the force of the explosion

Skyrockets were flashed through the air alarming Captain Stite and his crew of the Point Arena life saving station, and the rescuers put off in the lifeboat They returned with Rasmussen and several members of the crew. Captain Halversen and the others remained aboard but were forced to abandon the ship at daybreak As darkness fell tonight the Phoenix was making her unguided way down the coast kept afloat by her deck load

OFFICERS COME TO GET DR. CRIPPEN AND GIRL

QUEBEC, August 14 — Sergeant Mitchell of Scotland Yard and two wardresses from London arrived here today to help Inspector Dew take Dr Hawley H Crippen and Ethel Clare Leneve back to London

This afternoon the quartet drove to the provincial jail, but did not see the prisoners Dew handed Jailer Maurin a letter for Miss Leneve brought from London by Mitchell Beyond saying that it came from the girl's family in England, the jailer would reveal nothing of its contents

Sergeant Mitchell tomorrow will present to the provincial attorney general papers containing evidence relating to the crime with which Crippen and Miss Leneve are charged The evidence will be used, however only in case the couple resist removal Apparently, both prisoners are eager to return

POPE APPRECIATES LOYALTY TO CHURCH

ROME Aug 14—The pope in speaking with reference to the Spanish question during the course of an audience which he gave to a prominent officer recently said that the events in Spain and the efforts of the anticlericals, supported by irreligious sympathy abroad had caused him much affliction but at the same time had afforded an opportunity for splendid manifestation of loyalty and devotion to the church and the pontiff himself

WOMAN VICTIM MEETS WITH A PITIFUL END

LANCASTER, Cal, Aug 14 In a shallow grave sunk in the sand of her front yard, a pet dog uncovered today the body of Mrs Frieda Schultz Castine, a wealthy ranch owner Every indication pointed to murder, with robbery as the motive and telegrams have been sent to ports and border cities between Galveston and San Francisco to arrest the woman's brother in law, Otto Schultz, who left here yesterday after telling the station agent, Stoughton of the Southern Pacific that he was bound for Germany

Mrs Castine was last seen Friday, when she came here from her ranch, four miles east to receive a remittance of $6 000 from relatives in San Francisco

The investigations of the officer from the sheriff's office in Los Angeles, who arrived here this afternoon, tend to show that the woman was attacked as she drove into her yard, and that she was thrown into the shallow hole while yet alive

An examination by a surgeon disclosed the presence of sand in the lungs and bronchial tubes

Mrs Castine's son found his mother's body, half uncovered and mutilated by the dog when he returned from a trip this morning and the young man, who knew his mother had gone to town to receive a large sum could not find any trace of the money

Otto Schultz, the brother-in-law, who came here recently to take charge of the ranch also was missing, and on being apprised of the search, Mr Stoughton recalled the fact that Schultz had purchased a ticket for Los Angeles and had said that he was on his way back to Germany, where both the Schultz and Castine families are said to be well connected

The $6 000 which Mrs Castine is believed to have received Friday, is said to have come to her from an estate in the fatherland

From facts deduced from the inquiries of the officers and the surgeons it is believed that the murderer lay in wait for Mrs Castine and struck her down as she alighted from the carriage The soil of the ranch is sandy, making it an easy matter to dig a hole, but the slayer was in such haste that he not only did not wait for the death of his victim before burying her, but covered the body with a scant six inches of sand and loam

Schultz left a trunk with the station agent with instructions to forward it to Galveston

TEN TONS OF SEED FOR RESTOCKING NATIONAL FORESTS

How the Seed Is Gathered and What Will Be Done With It.

WASHINGTON D C—The United States department of agriculture is using this year on the national forests over 10 tons of tree seed Most of this seed has already been planted or sown The rest will be utilized later in the season as favorable conditions are presented

It takes a great many tree seeds to make 10 tons Jack pine the most important tree for planting in the Nebraska sand hills by the forest service will average something like 125,000 to the pound Of western yellow pine the tree most extensively planted throughout the national forests ... which 10,000 seed will make a pound Altogether the 10 tons of seed to be used this year represent perhaps 100,000,000 single seeds

If every seed could be depended on to produce a young tree suitable for planting the result would be a supply of nursery stock sufficient to plant 200,000 acres of land, but no such result can be looked for because many seeds do not germinate Most of the seed will be sown either broadcast or in seed spots or planted with a cornplanter directly in the place where the trees are to stand

Even when nursery stock is raised a liberal allowance must be made for loss In the first place a considerable percentage of the seeds will be found to be infertile Of those which germinate many will die before they leave the nursery beds and many more will be lost in transplanting If from a pound of western yellow pine seed that contains 10,000 individual seeds, 4,000 three-year old transplants are available for field planting the department of agriculture has obtained satisfactory results

To Test Direct Planting

There are now 24 national forest nurseries with an annual productive capacity of over 8,000,000 seedlings But there are many millions of old burns on the national forests which are waiting to be restocked and some quicker and cheaper method than the actual planting of nursery-grown trees is urgently needed Therefore the foresters are making experiments on a large scale with different methods of direct sowing and planting and most of the seed gathered last year was obtained for this use

Broadcasting has already been found to give good results in some regions It was first tried in the Black Hills of South Dakota with an encouraging outcome To broadcast an acre of land with yellow pine seed about eight pounds of seed is used One of the most formidable drawbacks to this method is the extent to which the seed may be consumed by birds and rodents If the season happens to be one in which food for these animals is scarce the loss is very heavy The problem of control of animal pests such as field mice ground squirrels and gophers, which eat the tree seeds and also the further problem of preventing the depredations of rabbits which are altogether too fond of the little trees themselves whether nursery transplants or field grown seedlings is receiving the attention of the biological survey experts of the department of agriculture

Collecting the Seed

In some localities the department has had to purchase seed but most of that used is gathered by forest service men themselves The cost of gathering has varied for the different regions from 15 cents to $1.00 ... As a rule the seed is collected in the fall months when most conifers open their seed Parties of three or four men ordinarily work together Where lumbering is in progress the collectors follow the sawyers and take the cones directly from the felled trees In standing timber the task is much more arduous The men must often climb tall pines and ... the cones from the branches ... MYSTERY IS EXPLAINED

Miss Huggins Injured by Bullet From Rifle in Hand of Three Youthful Target Shooters.

The mystery surrounding the accidental shooting last Saturday of Miss Carrie Huggins of Centerville, Mo., was cleared up yesterday, when three small boys, sons of prominent Manitou families, confessed to Officer E. N. Wolfe that one of their number had fired the shot which wounded Miss Huggins in the calf of her leg.

The boys, aged about 13 and 14 years respectively, were "Jack" Nolon, son of Mr and Mrs John Nolon, who reside at "The Towers" on Canon avenue, James Collins and Booth Wynkoop. They had been practicing target shooting, and a stray shot from the rifle of Jack Nolon was the one which injured Miss Huggins. The little fellows were taken by Officer Wolfe to Miss Huggins' room yesterday afternoon, and they there made proper apologies for their careless act and so far won that young lady's tender heart that she has almost decided not to prosecute the case, though it is possible that, should her condition grow serious her sister, Miss Virginia Huggins, may decide to have the boys explain to a court their careless act which so nearly resulted fatally.

When Miss Virginia Huggins was seen last night she reported that her sister had had a rather poor day, being extremely nervous and sleeping little the night before. The attending physician expresses the belief that blood poisoning is hardly likely to follow, and says that his patient will probably rally from the accident and do well, though her nervous condition militates against this.

Miss Huggins had come to Manitou after a long siege of sickness to recuperate, and was intending to remain here for the entire winter. Her system is considerably run down and her sister feels some alarm over her condition. Their relatives in the east have been notified of the accident, and until they are heard from the young ladies propose to do nothing with reference to punishing the youthful offenders.

HEAVY REGISTRATION NOTED IN CALIFORNIA

Candidates for Party Nominations Are Getting Ready to Poll Their Full Strength Tomorrow.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 14.—With only 24 hours remaining before the close of the state primary campaign, candidates for party nominations are busying themselves with the issuance of final instructions to county and precinct workers and the preparations for bringing out their full strength at the polls on Tuesday. Not until the close of the balloting on Tuesday evening will candidates or campaign managers enjoy their first rest since the wearing race for office was begun months ago.

One development of the last few days of the contest that has upset all early calculations is the tremendously heavy registration, which indicates a Republican vote in excess of that cast in the general election two years ago. Undoubtedly some thousands of Democrats have registered as Republican partisans for the primary because of the few contests to be decided within their own party.

Few Democratic Contests.

With Theodore Bell unopposed for the Democratic nomination for governor and few contests below that office on the Democratic ballot, the interest of that party has centered mainly on local contests for county offices.

Five gubernatorial candidates will appeal for the suffrage of Republican voters—Hiram M. Johnson, Charles F. Curry, Alden Anderson, Phillip A. Stanton and Nathaniel Ellery. Johnson has the indorsement of the Lincoln-Roosevelt league as the insurgent faction is designated while the four others will divide the votes of the stalwarts.

Curry, who is now secretary of state, has a following that is largely personal, and has built up a powerful machine.

Three candidates are appealing for the Republican advisory vote for United States senator—John D. Works and E. A. Meserve of Los Angeles and A. G. Spalding of San Diego. Works has the indorsement of the Lincoln-Roosevelt club and has been making his campaign on an insurgent platform. Meserve, an attorney, and Spalding, a millionaire sporting goods manufacturer, will divide the stalwart support.

RATON, N. M., Aug 14.—Tono Tomick, a miner, was shot and killed by an unknown man in a saloon here today while an accomplice of the murderer held his arms. Both the murderer and accomplice escaped. The murderer and his companion are thought by the local police to be white slave traders into whose clutches Petra Petrovich, a Montenegrin girl who was to have married Tomick, fell while passing through Chicago. The girl is said to have escaped from her captors and come to Raton. The police believe she was followed by the murderer and his companion.

HARM WORKED BY AGITATION

INJURES CAUSE WATERWAY IMPROVEMENTS.

Chief of Engineers, U. S. A., Urges Conservative Estimates for Projects.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—From sources regarded as authentic it is learned that there are on file in the office of the chief of engineers, United States army, estimates for river and harbor improvements for the year 1911-12, amounting to upwards of $[illegible],000,000 and the end is not in sight. These estimates are prepared by engineer officers in charge of particular districts and are made up for the purpose of giving the board of engineers in charge of waterway improvements a general knowledge of each project upon which work is being done.

When all the estimates have been received the board of engineers goes through them and from these estimates revised estimates are made which are sent to the committees of Congress dealing with the subject of river and harbor improvements for their guidance in framing the river and harbor appropriation bill.

Many of these estimates are out of all proportion to the merits of the projects and as a result they are cut to the bone by the board of engineers in order to keep down appropriations and at the same time place the stamp of their approval only upon meritorious projects.

Publicity Causes Trouble.

For a number of years there has been a rule in the office of the chief of engineers prohibiting the giving out of information as to the recommendations of district engineers on the projects included within specified territory, but usually enterprising newspapermen interested in cities succeed in obtaining advance information as to said recommendations, and then the newspapers begin agitating for increased appropriations. Local boards of trade and chambers of commerce join in the movement for larger sums and as a result members of Congress are drawn into the controversy and the fight is transferred to the committee of Congress. This agitation if persisted in will work untold harm to the cause of waterway improvements according to Brig. Gen. William H. Bixby, chief of engineers.

"Newspapers can aid immeasurably in the preparation of the next river and harbor bill by urging conservative estimates for projects," said General Bixby. "A yearly river and harbor bill is greatly to be desired, but if the newspapers insist upon their particular locality getting all that the most enthusiastic advocate of waterway improvement desires the bill will become so large that its passage is out of the question.

Conservative Appropriations.

Now that the committees of Congress dealing with waterways have gone on record as favoring a yearly river and harbor bill it behooves the people and particularly the newspapers, for their power in the community is acknowledged, to counsel conservative appropriations to the end that the bill will clearly establish the yearly principle of a river and harbor budget. If the bill is loaded down with provisions for the improvement of this river and that canal and if it fails to carry out the suggestions made by President Taft during the closing days of the last session of Congress I fear for its passage.

What we need now more than any one thing in waterway legislation is a conservative appropriation bill judicially prepared with a view of yearly appropriations so that the notable projects may be completed within a reasonable time. If legislators will be modest in their requests for recognition of their particular projects and if the people will make haste slowly I believe a yearly river and harbor bill possible but if the demands grow too large and the bill assumes anywhere near the proportions of the last bill then I have serious doubts of the yearly feature ever being adopted. What we need most at this time is conservatism [illegible]

GERMAN TARIFF A MASTERPIECE

INDUSTRIAL SUPREMACY IS ONE RESULT.

Nations Now Realize Value of Such Measures as Means of Protection.

XI—THE GERMAN TARIFF POLICY.

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

BERLIN, Aug 4.—When Colbert, the great minister of Louis XIV, in 1664 revised the French system of taxation on the basis of the theory that the labor of its people is the greatest asset of a state, he laid the foundation for modern commercial systems and as a byproduct he produced the doctrine of the protective tariff. Until that time the tariff had been used only as a means of raising revenue and had been levied solely with respect to how much the king happened to need. In the two and a half centuries since Colbert's day the tariff question has been the chief concern of fiscal legislation in every commercial country. In that 250 years the protective tariff has built new nations and has wrecked old ones. It has encouraged manufactures and discouraged agriculture, it has fattened the farmers and starved the manufacturer, it has fostered commerce and it has killed trade, it has caused nations to go to war and it has prevented wars—one thing or another according to how, when and by whom it has been used.

Statesmen of every nation now generally admit that the German tariff policy in the selfish interest of Germany is the most scientifically wrought and the most skillfully applied tariff system yet evolved. The importance of the German empire among the nations of the world is great, not in the ratio of the strength of its military establishment but according to its industrial and economic condition. That the German empire now is the most highly organized industrial nation of the world and that it has attained this supremacy in only 40 years cannot be explained except by an examination of the German tariff policy.

Union Formed in 1833.

The Zollverein—the German Customs union—was formed in 1833 to put an end to the restraints laid upon trade by the excessive tariffs levied by each of the two score German states and which practically prohibited general internal commerce. As it was the first purpose of the Zollverein to remove restrictions from commerce it was inevitable that German fiscal thought should have inclined toward free trade rather than protection. By the time the German native industries had begun thoroughly to recover from the exhaustion of the Napoleonic wars Cobden was leading the free trade movement in England and was affecting the fiscal politics of all Europe, as well as of America.

Thus in 1868 when Prussia had gained the supremacy of Germany and had excluded Austria from the nation, the Zollparlament in Berlin was controlled by the antiprotectionists and the tariff revision accomplished at that time making the formation of the empire economically certain was a tariff for revenue only. Bismarck at that time was an earnest advocate of a strict revenue tariff. At that time Germany was concerned only with the problem of freeing its commerce from every possible restriction, in order that trade might exist whether its profits were small or large. Nevertheless the inclusion of the German states within a tariff wall providing absolute free trade for domestic commerce and levying the necessary revenue tariffs on foreign trade had the result of furnishing some degree of incidental protection to the nascent German manufacturers.

After the new empire had been established for five years and it had become apparent that German union was permanent and that internal dissension need no longer be feared, Bismarck's economic policy changed from subjective to objective. Imperial unity assured the prosperity of domestic commerce. It now became necessary for Germany to develop its industries and to foster and encourage its foreign trade. With this change in the nature of the problem before him, Bismarck wholly without warning went back on his free trade record and became an ardent protectionist. At that time the will of the Iron Chancellor was law in the German parliament and as soon as he had worked out the details of his protective scheme the reichstag passed the first German protective tariff bill in May, 1879. It is a curiously interesting coincidence that most writers of histories say that the rise of industrial Germany began in 1880.

A Weapon of Defense

Bismarck said: "Free trade is the weapon of the strong." Therefore Britain could afford free trade but Germany could not. He resolved to give Germany a tariff system which would provide it with weapons of offense and defense and with which trade adversaries must reckon. In framing the first protective bill Bismarck and his assistants set at naught all the precedents of the legislative advocates of protection [illegible] to consider the interest of particular localities or industries nor of particular sections of their own country. They examined the weak spots in the tariff systems of their trade rivals and framed their own schedule so as to gain the greatest possible advantage for industrial Germany as a whole.

The protective system was destroyed in Great Britain because it was used only for the benefit of the landlords who with pigheaded selfishness insisted upon maintaining a high duty on breadstuffs in the face of the facts that the country could not produce sufficient corn to feed its workmen and that the workmen were starving because of the high price of bread. Now that there is a recrudescence in England of the protective propaganda it is interesting to observe that the [illegible] learned nothing from [illegible] from other countries and that the prevalent English idea of a protective tariff is represented in the demand of the agrarian element for high duties on wheat.

In the United States, where tariff measures always have been framed within the life of a single Congress there has been neither time nor opportunity for the scientific preparation of the schedules according to the Bismarckian system. There has been a tariff commission, there is a sort of tariff commission now and there may be a full-fledged tariff commission again, but there is no reason to believe that a Congress, controlled by either party, would respect the recommendation of any kind of a commission.

Avoided Common Errors.

Bismarck had before him the British and American examples and when he resolved to throw a protective tariff wall around the empire he was careful to avoid the errors of the two Anglo-Saxon nations, the chief trade rivals of Germany. But the possibilities of protection tempted the cupidity of the agrarian element in Germany whose interests were one with Bismarck's but whose stupidity he did not share. The landlords succeeded in raising the tariffs on agricultural products to the point of inviting political revolution. The climax of this protective rapacity was reached in 1887 when an increase of the tariff was followed by the election of a low-tariff reichstag. Then Bismarck was dismissed and the fiscal policy of the country was liberalized. Food products and raw materials needed for domestic consumption were admitted free not by a general act but by means of reciprocity treaties in which Germany got a new trade advantage for every concession made.

Bismarck had instituted the German protective policy but it remained for his successors to bring it to organized perfection. The system of reciprocity treaties negotiated with most of the European nations fixed the tariff until 1904. A commission of government experts and representatives of the industrial interests was organized in 1898 to make a detailed study of every industry in any way affected by the tariff and to recommend necessary or advisable revisions. More than 2,000 experts participated in the work of the commission, which was extended over five years of incessant labor. The new tariff law based upon the report of this commission was enacted in 1902. It made considerable advances in duties, and was designed to form the basis of a system of diplomatic bargaining. Reciprocity treaties, giving great advantage to German industries, made with several other nations were concluded by the end of 1904.

In making these treaties the German diplomatists were prepared, their adversaries were not. The Germans got the best of it. It was Sadowa and Sedan all over again. In 1905 these treaties making considerable reductions in the duties were enacted into law and their benefits extended to all nations enjoying "most favored nation" treatment. Using this system as a basis Germany has been able to make advantageous commercial arrangements with practically every country in the world.

So far as the encouragement of industry is concerned the German tariff policy appears to have been eminently successful. But nothing human is perfect, and the system of monopolies built up behind the protecting tariff walls has so affected domestic relations between producers and consumers that the German people now are in revolt against the oppression of the fiscal system. Although Germans credit protection with having developed their industries and trade they also accuse it of having increased the cost of living to a degree that is becoming unbearable.

TAFT AND THE REACTIONARIES

QUITE the most interesting political news in a long time is the information from Beverly that President Taft has decided on what is termed "a readjustment of conditions within the inner sphere of the Republican party, which translated means, the relegation of Aldrich and Hale and Cannon to a back seat as advisers of the Administration and the elimination of Ballinger from the Cabinet. The only trouble with the information is that it is unverified, and no statement can be elicited from the President as to whether he has any such move in mind.

However, there are numerous reasons for believing that President Taft has at least thought over this matter seriously, if not that he actually contemplates some course of action that will indicate convincingly to the public that he is heartily in sympathy with the Progressive element of the party and recognizes that in the ascendancy of the principles for which it stands lies the party's hope of continued power and the country's hope of uninterrupted progress. And one of the most important of those reasons is that President Taft is an intelligent man.

His desire to compromise differences within the party, coupled with what was perhaps more than anything else a lack of circumspection in the choice of his advisers, put the President right at the outset of his Administration in a somewhat equivocal position. He had been elected on a distinctively progressive platform and had reinforced it by his own personal pledges; nevertheless, he relied chiefly for counsel on men notorious for their standpat theories and affiliations with special interests. Mr Taft is a trustful soul, and it took him a long time to awaken to the fact that he was being hoodwinked. But the way he got after Congress toward the close of the last session was a sign that he was getting the dust off his glasses, and it is inconceivable that he has been blind to the political developments of the last few months. An intelligent public senses their significance, and it is to be inferred that an intelligent Chief Executive does likewise.

President Taft must see that men like Aldrich and Cannon and Ballinger do not belong in the inner councils of a truly progressive Republican Administration. He must see that his deference to their advice, his close affiliation with them in preference to the leaders of the Progressives, calls seriously into question his own avowed progressiveness. He must see that domination of the party by the reactionary element spells disaster and that the success of the progressive movement spells progress. The people understand these things, and the people do not understand why the President has not long since shaken himself free of reactionary influences and come out boldly and unequivocally as an uncompromising champion of popular rights.

It is wholly unlikely that Mr Taft will do anything drastic. If he concludes that he has had enough of Aldrichism and Cannonism he will not herald the fact from the housetops. If he even asks Ballinger for his resignation it will be surprising. But he has accepted an invitation to make what is to be his only address during the present campaign before the National League of Republican Clubs at New York, September 20. Let there be no surprise if he takes a stand on that occasion that will cause the "old guard" to sit up and take notice.

THE REPLY OF ALDRICH.

THE belated answer of Senator Aldrich to the charge of Senator Bristow that he raised the tariff on certain classes of rubber manufactures in the interest of his own pocketbook tends rather to confirm than to disarm the widespread suspicion that the Rhode Island capitalist manipulated the schedule to suit the private ends of himself and the other trust organizers with whom he has long been intimately associated.

The explanation by Aldrich of the increase to 25 per cent ad valorem of the House schedule of 30 per cent on manufactured rubber articles was that various minor articles such as toys, dolls, novelties etc, were assessed at 35 per cent and that, customs officials having called attention to the confusion caused by the two rates, the increase was made in order to simplify matters. But the question arises. Why, since American manufacturers who were already exporting their products did not need this additional protection, should not the duties have been made uniform at 30 per cent?

Since the increased rate went into effect the cost to American consumers of manufactured rubber goods has increased approximately 25 per cent. This the Senator declares has meant no profit whatever directly or indirectly to himself, his family and he takes great pains to point out that the Intercontinental Rubber Company, which he was instrumental in organizing, is interested exclusively in the production of crude rubber and that its profits are not affected in any way by the tariff on manufactured articles.

Plausible indeed. Nevertheless it is worthy of note that when the price of the finished product following an increase in the tariff goes up it is perfectly feasible for the producers of the raw material to demand higher prices particularly when they have almost no competition in supplying the American market. It need be pointed out in this connection merely that there is nothing to prevent the Intercontinental Rubber Company, (assuming, as Senator Aldrich declares, that it is not now interested in manufacturing rubber goods,) from entering that field. The average manufacturer, if he possesses ordinary wisdom, would choose to submit to moderate extortion, rather than run the risk of having to compete with a concern having unlimited millions behind it.

SEQUENCE OF EVENTS AT LEAST PECULIAR.

Of course the huge dividends which it is not denied the Intercontinental Rubber Company paid within a few months after it swallowed up several other concerns engaged in the production of crude rubber may have been, as Senator Aldrich glibly explains, merely deferred payments of cumulative dividends, but it is at least decidedly peculiar that this combination was effected within a few months after the higher tariff went into effect and that it found itself able so suddenly to declare these enormous disbursements. Again, in this connection, the fact that the price of manufactured articles has increased 25 per cent significantly obtrudes.

A really amusing part of Senator Aldrich's "defense" is his explanation that the Intercontinental Rubber Company is in no sense of the term a trust that it is simply a holding company formed for purposes of convenience and economy in business management. Regarding two of its subsidiary concerns he says that they were organized for the sake of convenience, whereas, in point of fact, both of the companies were in existence before the Intercontinental Rubber Company was organized. This concern he admits controls numerous smaller companies engaged in the crude rubber business in various parts of the world, but he throws up his hands in holy horror at the suggestion that it either is or aims to be a monopoly, pointing out in reply to Senator Bristow's charge to that effect, that it controls only about 6 per cent of the crude rubber output of the world.

Again, of course, he may be right. Perhaps the Standard Oil Company is not a trust, nor the American Tobacco Company, nor the Guggenheim smelter syndicate. But it would take a great deal to convince an intelligent public that they are not, and it will require something much more definite than the evasive answer of Senator Aldrich to convince the people that the rubber concern with which he is so prominently connected is not a trust, that he did not secure an increase in the rubber schedule for the purpose of increasing its profits and that it has not profited enormously from that increase. In fact, so entirely unconvincing is his reply to the Kansas senator that he has made the case against himself appear worse even than the latter made it out. Let it be granted, however, that Senator Aldrich is honest in his denial that he had any pecuniary interest, immediate or remote, in the rubber schedule. The fact remains that he was responsible for a tariff increase that has saddled on the American consumer of an already highly protected product a wholly unnecessary burden of millions of dollars a year. Against this he can urge only that the establishment of a uniform rate of 30 per cent would have entailed a loss of perhaps $1,000,000 a year in Federal revenue. The logic is difficult to follow.

Mr and Mrs. Startup left for a short wedding trip and upon their return will reside at Startup, Wash.

THE THIRSTY TOURIST

From Collier's

The health department of Colorado Springs decided that public drinking-cups were not sanitary and removed them. The welkin immediately rang with the protests of the boosters that this implication of concern would frighten tourists away. A well-known business man replaced three of the cups on busy corners. The health commissioner, an ex-pioneer and Indian fighter, removed them again. The matter was thus brought to Mayor Avery, who sided against the health department. The mayor of Colorado Springs appears to belong to that sturdy class of free-born Americans who can be counted on to fight to the last ditch any attempt to introduce modern knowledge of hygiene into municipal housekeeping. The resistance to such attempts is almost always based on the assertion that the change will hurt business. Colorado Springs is to be sure rather unusually sensitive on the drink question because of the damage which is thought to have been done to the town's principal business, the tourist trade, by its having gone "dry." To allure strangers accustomed to luxurious living into a beautiful hotel and then not permit them to have wine with their meals undoubtedly involves embarrassments which even many in general sympathy with the prohibition movement might not consistently wish to escape. Moses not to say Mussey, said drinking cups are however another issue. The thing for Colorado Springs to do is to put in those bubbling little fountains toward which the enchanted passerby inclines his lips to receive the streams caress. They are sanitary and safe and convey to any one with a spark of fancy the notion of drinking from a bubbling spring. With one eye squinted toward Pikes Peak and his imagination at work we feel sure that any tourist would prefer them.

TO SAVE FRICTION

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger

The New York police authorities have hit upon a plan which ought to mitigate the ill feeling between automobilists and the police and at the same time make for an improvement in police administration. Identification cards are to be furnished to automobile owners and blank forms of summonses to the police, and hereafter when the former lay themselves open to arrest for minor offenses against the dignity of the law, all that will be required on the spot will be a delay long enough for the policeman to record the name and address of the offending automobile owner from his identification card and to deliver a summons to appear before a magistrate at a definite time and place. Then the automobilist may go on his way without further molestation, and the policeman will not be taken from his post of duty. The penalty for failure to obey the summons is sufficiently heavy to insure respect for it and the whole process is calculated to conserve the temper and the time of all concerned.

A TOOL THAT IS LOST.

From the Providence Journal

There need be no sorrow over any of the defeated men in Kansas. But the case of Mr Scott calls for particular congratulation. As chairman of the House committee on agriculture he has lent himself conspicuously to the plans for defeating an appropriation for the Appalachian forest reserve. He has been a willing tool of the speaker in consummating a monstrous injustice to New England and the south. The other defeated representatives are more or less tarred with the same brush. They now have the satisfaction of knowing that the only two members of the delegation who have been renominated without a contest are the two who have stood boldly for progressive policies and have repudiated Cannon, a high tariff, and all the rest of the standpat program.

ADVICE TO INDEPENDENTS.

From the Rochester Herald

Wherever you see a head hit it and hit it hard enough to knock it down. That is a wholesome rule for independents in dealing with the machine bosses and their petty creatures in state and legislative office. Moral suasion and humble petition have been tried upon the machine legislator without effect. The orders of the boss still go, whatever the people want. And though the people may vote on election day, the machine is all that votes in the nominating convention, and the boss controlled officeholder knows that the nomination must be had at whatever cost. The election, he hopes, will look out for itself. So he obeys the order of the boss, defies public sentiment, and takes his chances. He will continue to take them as long as an easy-going constituency permits him to remain in office. When his constituency administers deserved punishment at the polls, turns him out of office and elects a real representative, then only is an effective blow struck at machine rule.

The Daily Chit-Chat

In the hope of bringing a suggestion to some woman who has her living to earn and cannot decide just how to do it and with a desire to give women a broader outlook upon what the rest of their sex are doing I occasionally devote this column to telling something about some of the unusual ways in which women are earning their bread and butter. If any of my readers are doing any work that is rather out of the ordinary, or know of anyone else who is doing such work, I wish they would write me a few lines about it.

Please tell how you or your friend started in with the unusual work, what its advantages and disadvantages are, and how well it pays.

A unique niche in the real-estate business has been both created and filled by a very clever woman, with a small amount of money and a large one of taste.

After failing to obtain a regular position as a real estate agent, this woman started the business of making undesirable summer houses desirable.

She began by renting a house that was desirable in locality and in everything but furnishings, and completely overhauling it. She repapered, painted, cleaned and refurnished it—mostly with second-hand furniture rejuvenated, and dainty but inexpensive hangings. All of the work this rejuvenating entailed, she herself did with the help of a scrub-woman. Not a room cost more than fifty dollars, but it was all done with such taste and daintiness that as soon as it was furnished she rented the house for the summer for twice what she had paid for a whole year.

She was at once offered a position by the real estate agent but preferred to work along this new line and has made a good living in this way. Often she furnishes the house with antique furniture rejuvenated, and sometimes sells the furniture. This year she expects to make desirable, and sublet, five houses at a good profit.

Because of the high cost of foodstuffs, woman's time honored occupation—keeping boarders—is said to be difficult to make profitable just now.

One clever woman, however, has evolved a variation upon it that she has been able to make pay very well.

She boards helpless and "cranky" old folks, charging from $10 up, according to the care required and as care is the chief commodity supplied and the food they consume is a comparatively small consideration, she makes a very comfortable thing out of it.

At present she has six guests and keeps two maids. One maid does the washing and ironing, the other does the table work and chamber work and helps her with the old folks. She herself does all the cooking and takes care of the guests. Under present conditions she could accommodate eight. Four are the least with which such an establishment could be made to pay, she says.

Of course most of the old folks are just like children and require infinite patience and watchfulness. Some of them have to be dressed and undressed and fed. Some are weak-minded and ask the same question half a dozen times in half an hour. They are also apt to be blue and depressed, requiring constant cheering.

"No one could do it who did not like old people," she comments, "but for anyone who does and who has much patience and vitality I think there is a good opening for such work in any good-sized town or city. Get the doctors to be on the lookout for cases for you to apply for, and advertise in the local paper."

Now please don't forget to send in that little story of your work that may help or interest some other woman.

LIFE LINES

A BIT OF PHILOSOPHY IN EPIGRAM
—Pestleus

When you do your best it must be better than the other fellow does or else you are overcome by being outdone—you are defeated by your own deficiency.

Every favor that we ask means some toil or a task on some one's part, but love, God's love, in you and me gives to us happiness altogether free.

Thinking that you are bigger than other people makes you top heavy; the swelled head without brains comes from thinking you have more than anyone else.

Living out virtue quells the vicious voice of vice; wrong is made dumb by right living.

Man is master of his faith and can send it out to work at his will; if man weakens faith slackens and its zeal has lost its zest.

Man can never live over the past but many try to, and he can't see into the future though he spends much time looking that way; all true living is now.

Why should we think our neighbor has a happier lot simply because he has something we have not; envy is bitter gall and that's all.

You may learn from books about the past, you can image your ideals far into the future but the now is only fit for work; today you make your ascent or take your fall.

Man lives a useful life and people may love him for the good he does, but when his love ceases to work his stream of goodness is jammed.

When our ambitions are to fame and the great name, let's forget it if there are others seeking to claim these same honors; selfish ambition brings trouble in sight and might is not right.

SHOULD VACCINATION BE COMPULSORY?

Research Shows That Smallpox Has Been Almost Stamped Out Where Vaccination Is Compulsory.

(The following article is one of a series on public health, written by members of the Colorado State Medical society.)

Certain Chinese records show that smallpox was known in China over 3,000 years ago.

In western medical literature the first distinct reference to smallpox comes from the pen of Galen in the Second century.

In England in the last century, about one-third of the people were pock-marked. The annual mortality from the disease during the latter half of the Eighteenth century was about 3,000 to every million inhabitants.

In 1866 to 1869 in Calcutta and Bombay India, with a population of about 40,000,000, 140,000 died of smallpox, and 700,000 died from this disease from 1873 to 1876. Japan, China, Cochin China, islands of China sea and Korea, frequently suffer terrible loss of life from ravages of smallpox.

In 1520 smallpox was introduced into Mexico by the Spaniards. In a very short time over 3,500,000 of the natives succumbed to the disease. An outbreak of the disease depends on two factors.

First—Individuals susceptible to the disease.

Second—An introduction into the body in some manner of the virus causing the disease.

The first factor is present in practically all of the unvaccinated, and the presence of a case of smallpox provides the second factor.

The Only Preventive

The very great importance of preventing or restricting so universal and fatal a pestilence is apparent. The only preventive that can be universally applied is vaccination.

In 1796 Dr Jenner made his first vaccination. Six weeks later this patient was inoculated with the virus of smallpox but it failed to take effect.

Dr Benjamin Waterhouse of Boston was probably the first to perform vaccination in this country.

Previous to vaccination the mortality per year from smallpox in England was 3,000 to each million inhabitants. After the introduction of vaccination England's mortality was reduced to 310 per million. Of the statistical evidence given perhaps none is more remarkable than that furnished by Drs Seaton and Buchanan of England. In 1863 when London was suffering from an epidemic of smallpox they examined over 50,000 school children. They found among every thousand without evidences of vaccination, 360 with scars of smallpox. And of every thousand with evidences of vaccination only two with scars of smallpox. It might be said that compulsory vaccination is against personal liberty. One's rights should cease where another's right begins. The greatest good to the greatest number" should be sought. One should be willing to make this slight personal sacrifice for the public good. Physicians who argue for vaccination are pleading for humanity and not for personal gain. Vaccination is a measure in preventive medicine, and measures which prevent disease do not add to the physician's bank account.

Pure Virus Essential.

It should be among the functions of the boards of health to provide and control the supply of vaccine virus. This has been provided for by statute in several states.

In order to make the sanitary ideal and provide for the entire abolition of smallpox pure virus, cleanliness and maintenance of complete vaccination in every individual in the community are necessary.

Smallpox is a virulently contagious and infectious disease.

Prior to the discovery of vaccination smallpox was one of the great scourges of the world. It remains so in every part of the world which fails, for one reason or another, to use the preventive means of vaccination.

All Woodmen and their wives and all Royal Neighbors are invited to an entertainment by the Modern Woodmen of America in M. W. A. hall Wednesday evening. Music and cards are on the program, and refreshments will be served.

The Star Ranch in the pines, on slope of Cheyenne mountain, about six miles from town; no dust, no smoke; rooms with private connecting sleeping rooms; double room cabins; pure spring water, milk, cream, poultry, eggs and vegetables supplied from our own ranch; saddle horses and driving horses, automobile service. Phone Red 992 for our fine automobile service if you wish to investigate the Star Ranch.

COMMISSIONERS MAY BE GIVEN LUNCHEON

Practically every county of the state will be represented by the county commissioners who will be in the city today, and it is likely that arrangements will be made this morning for an informal luncheon at some of the hotels, at which the visitors will be entertained.

Although the main purpose of the visit of the commissioners is to consider ways and means of relieving the present crowded situation with regard to the insane of the state during the course of their visit here, they will be asked to co-operate in the future with this county and city in securing the 1911 meeting of the National Dry Farming congress, which meets this year at Spokane, Wash. The commissioners may go so far as to pass resolutions indorsing the claim of this city for the convention.

The fishing and camping season is on, and camp outfits can be rented or purchased from The Out West Tent & Awning Co., 113½ N. Tejon St.

WILL BANQUET THE REV. CARRINGTON

Rev. E. Evans-Carrington will be the guest of honor at a reception to be given by Pikes Peak camp No. 5, Woodmen of the World in its hall, Tuesday night. The reception is in honor of Mr. Carrington's successful effort to land the big head camp session for Colorado Springs in 1913. The committee in charge is keeping the program a secret, but some interesting features are promised. Mr. Carrington has fought a good many battles in the interest of his camp at the head camp, which has just closed at Portland, Ore., and the members are enthusiastic over his work.

Manitou Park hotel now open; 13,000-acre ranch, riding, driving, fishing, billiards, bowling, tennis; an ideal place to rest; beautiful pine forest. Telephone or write Manitou Park hotel, or C. A. Pollen, Manitou.

Hotel Navajo now open on both American and European plans

FLOWER SHOW MEN TO MEET TUESDAY

To make final arrangements for the big flower show of the El Paso County Horticultural society, next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, there will be a meeting of the society at the court house tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

It is probable that there will be an entertainment, consisting of speeches, music, etc., the first night of the show, and at Tuesday's meeting final arrangements will probably be made for that event. If it can be arranged, the show will remain open Saturday night.

What the Press Agents Say

"SECRET SERVICE" AT THE OPERA HOUSE

"Secret Service," William Gillette's war drama will be produced at the Opera House tonight by the Theodore Lorch Stock company. The same play will be repeated tomorrow and Wednesday nights and Wednesday matinee. For two performances only, and the very last times in this city, Lorch's masterpiece, "Dr Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," will be offered Thursday matinee and night of this week. Closing the week will be one of Mr. Lorch's own dramas, "A Servant of the Law." The regular Wednesday matinee will be, as usual, souvenir day, when pictures of LeClare Hatten will be presented to every lady attending the performance.

The action of "Secret Service" takes place in Richmond, Va., during the Civil war. The northern forces were entrenched before the city, struggling by all possible means to break down the Confederate defenses and capture the capital of the south. A great state of excitement prevailed during this famous seven-day siege. Strict military discipline was impossible in such confusion. Troops were being hurried to Richmond from all parts of the south. The haste allowed no careful survey of whom the various armies contained. This made it possible for many northern secret service men to enter Richmond and remain there under various disguises.

In the midst of this, one of the bravest and most glorious struggles history has ever known, a brave attempt at gaiety was kept up, chiefly by the younger people, in desperate endeavor to distract their minds from the terrible situation which threatened the downfall of the south and the losing of its cause. There were dances, starvation parties, so named because of the lack of refreshments generally served at such southern functions. The crashing of the cannons, the booming of the guns and the awful stillness of quiet intervals accompanied the waltzes or the lively polkas.

It is in such a scene that "Secret Service," William Gillette's drama, is laid. A large company is required for this drama, and several unique stage effects are employed in the action of the drama.

Seats will be placed on sale at the box office this morning for the night performance of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde." A long line is expected when the box office opens this morning at 9 o'clock. The regular summer scale of prices will prevail for this performance, which will positively be the very last to be given of this drama in this city this summer.

A TREAT FOR MUSIC LOVERS AT MAJESTIC

A treat is in store at the Majestic this week for lovers of all kinds of music. Manager T... having booked a bill made up of five musical acts, in most of which, however, there are elements of comedy and novelty that will add to their enjoyment. This does not include the concert orchestra program, which is always a feature.

The list includes Coy Smith and her Minstrel Boys, in a genuine minstrel show, with solo singing, dancing and a grand finale; Musical Lowe, the famous xylophonist of Sousa's and Gilmore's bands, with an assortment of melodious instruments; Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, in a new and clever musical novelty; Mordock and Watson, noted singers and comedians, formerly with Dockstader's and Field's minstrels, and ...'s Chavial, the famous violinist, in a fine repertoire of classical and popular selections. Here is every kind of music, something to please every taste, and the high standard of the p... that it will all be delightful and highly popular.

The Majesticscope will have something particularly good this week, too, and the motion pictures are always an attractive part of the Majestic's show.

Performances 3:00, 7:30 and 9:10 p. m. Admission, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

MADAME NATURE'S ART GALLERY

A good many years ago, before you or I or any of us began to think of Colorado as the playground and showplace of America, the tribes of Ute Indians who wandered where the village of Manitou now stands, were attracted to an orifice in the cliffs near the foot of Pikes Peak from which, at intervals there issued strange sounds. Being at a loss to account for it, the Utes enshrouded it in mystery, and wove their weird legends concerning it. Later the white men came, and unburdened with aboriginal superstitions, they discovered another entrance, entered, investigated, and found that the song of the cave was caused by the wind, which whistled through it's peculiar formations. It was then that the "Cave of the Winds" began to attract international attention. Soon geologists and men of science, who visited it and explored its recesses with devotion, discovered that, in variety and beauty of formations, the cave was unique in the history of geology. Its entire 16 rooms were an ever-changing panorama of Nature's sculpture in varied materials.

As the years have passed, the cave has grown in reputation, until ... of thousands visit it yearly. Without in any way marring its natural wonders, it has been rendered ... easily accessible as a house, and brilliant electric searchlights reach every nook and crevice, bringing into ... long relief ... glittering crystal formation. The cave is easily reached by carriage up beautiful Williams Canon, and it is open to visitors both day and night.

While the ... developes enough ... motion to annoy the chauffeur, it is pretty ... for the owner of a car to ... his family ..., make his will, and arrange his earthly affairs.

Zooz Win From D.A.C. 6 to 5; Play Cheyenne Indians Today

There was some class to the pastime in Mr. Coughlin's lot yesterday. The home team beat the proud wearers of the red triangle, meaning Denver athletic, 6 to 5, even though Mr. Padfield, the Fort Lupton recruit, did his best to humble the local gents.

In order that Mr. Merz and Mr. Hastings, the two regular flingers, might save their pitching fins for the Cheyenne series, beginning this afternoon, Mr. Gail came in from the cypress swamp in center field and ascended the box. Right at this crucial moment things did not look auspicious for those Zooz. No one in the great crush of chivalry and beauty that was attracted by the double bill had ever seen Mr. Gail do a full day's work on the slab. They were worried lest he couldn't get away with it.

There didn't seem to be any chance for the home crowd in the opener. On the first toss, James Counts neglected to handle a bounder from Steck in true professional style, and the shortstopper was given a life. Harrington bunted, and so eager were both Mr. Gail and Mr. Counts to catch the runner that they got in each other's way. Mr. Gail came in so rapidly that he sat down, and Mr. Counts made a flying tackle on the fielding pitcher. Everybody was safe all around the clock. Mr. Johns, the silent left fielder, lifted a tall fly over the fence for a homer, clearing the bases.

This sudden outburst of glad stuff was about all for the triangle troupe. It was one, two, three in the second and third, and in the fourth, Hadley, by a great burst of speed, made two bases on a foul fly over the left field net. Mr. Hadley is one of the few athletes in the west who can go half way around on a two-base foul. Anyway, he was caught browsing off the bag, and the budding tally fell by the wayside.

Wright opened the seventh with a safety, but Counts came in fast on Sinclair's attempted sacrifice and both runners perished.

With one gone in the eighth, Harrington pushed a single to center. Searles flew to right and Johns hit for a double, scoring Harrington. He was wild-pitched to third, but was run down trying to emulate Mike Donlin in his one-act vaudeville skit, entitled "Stealing Home." Mike, who married Mabel, does his stealing stunt at night, and, had it been darker in the yard, it is believed that Johns would have duplicated the trick.

Wright walked in the ninth and took second on a wild toss to catch him at first. Sinclair's out put him on third and Steck's single sent him in with the last run.

Williams' error on Gail, a double by Counts and a single by Hastings, scored a pair for the Zooz in their half of the opener. In the fourth, Hastings was safe on an error, and Fowler sacrificed him to second. Friend singled, scoring Hastings. Merz doubled, but Friend was run down trying to show up Johns, who tried to show up the illustrious Mike.

Diamond doubled in the fifth and Vernon's double sent him home. In the sixth, two passes, an out and Vernon's drive to right scored another and gave the locals a lead of one. Gilstrom walked in the last round, took second on Gail's hit, third on an out, and scored on Searles' wild throw to catch him off third.

Today the Zooz open a two-game series with the Cheyenne Indians, and both contests should furnish the best baseball of the season. The Indians are still smarting under the unexpected defeat they received at the hands of the Zooz last week, and have not yet been able to figure out how it happened. The game this afternoon starts at 3:30 o'clock, with Merz the probable selection to pitch. Fowler will be moved back to his old position at first, and Gibbs, the hard-hitting catcher, formerly with the Berthoud Blues, will be back of the pan.

Hendrix will be the selection of Manager Bidwell to work this afternoon for Cheyenne, with Rusty left over until tomorrow's game. Yesterday's score:

FOUNTAIN, AIDED BY MR. HEATH, TIED UP WITH 20TH CENTURY

Eight to eight in eight innings tells the story of yesterday's ball game between the Twentieth Century Speed Boys of this city and the famous Fountain Favorites.

Both teams were tearing along in their mad career, each eager to gain a toehold, when those Zooz butted in and chased the younger set of athletes out of the yard. There was a plaintive wail of protest from the elite and other ladies and gents in the stand, but it didn't do any good.

For eight rounds the teams battled for the championship of the Fountain valley, one of the longest and widest in these parts, and when time was called there was every indication that the pastime would go beyond the limit. The athletes will play off the odd round some afternoon when they have nothing else to do.

Fountain took the lead early in the struggle, aided and abetted by Mr. Heath, the demon backstop, and his wonderful whip. Mr. Heath is the one best bet on the Fountain team, and a lot of the home folks came up to see him perform. The backstopper had lots of pepper up until the fourth round, when the local lads tied the score. At this point the Fountain monologist lost his voice sufficiently to keep silent until a foul tip on the wishbone jarred it loose in the seventh. In the meantime Fountain had again forged to the front by three runs, and this helped Mr. Heath a lot. Between the fourth and seventh, when Fountain was behind, his repartee was carried on in the sign language. Both teams played good ball and were evenly matched. A return game, one that is to go the regulation number of rounds, will soon be arranged for Zoo park.

Antlers Match Begins Today

Play in the tennis tournament on the Antlers courts begins this morning at 10 o'clock, when Gardiner-Lockhart and Scott-Whiting start in the men's doubles. King and Fawcett will play Simmons and Yates, beginning at 12:30, and other matches, probably in men's doubles only, will be played during the afternoon.

The entry list for the tournament, the drawings for which were published yesterday morning, is unusually large and will bring together the best tennis players in the city. Six silver cups have been offered the winners in the respective divisions.

Tennis Finals This Afternoon

Mrs. G. A. Harvey of Buffalo, who won her way to the finals in the Colorado Springs Golf club tennis tourney Saturday by defeating Miss Mary Scott in the semifinals, is scheduled to meet Miss Alice Scott at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the closing series for the T. R. Newbold cup.

The final match in the consolation singles between Miss Betty Kissell and Miss Mildred Grehle is also set for the same hour this afternoon.

HIGH MARKS LOOKED FOR IN TRIALS AT DENVER TOURNAMENT

DENVER, Aug. 14.—The largest field of golfers ever gathered in a tournament in the west played their last practice rounds in preparation for the Transmississippi tournament over the Denver Country club course today.

It will require two days to complete the 33-hole qualifying round of medal play, the contestants playing 18 holes each on Monday and Tuesday.

The visiting golfers are unanimous in their praise of the Country club course, which is one of the sportiest in the west. The course is 615 yards long, bogey being 82 and par 77. The course is heavily bunkered and the scores tomorrow probably will be high.

Two trains for the Great Cripple Creek Trip. Leave 8:30 and 10:40 a. m. Get back 6:05 and 6:55 p. m.

National Shooting Match Draws Marksmen From Every Quarter

CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Aug. 14.—With the close of the rifle and revolver matches of the Ohio State Rifle association yesterday, the 1,000 or more marksmen gathered here from every state in the union are all in readiness for the opening of the national contests which begin tomorrow.

During the present week all the special revolver and rifle matches will be run off, and while the flower of American sharpshooters will participate in these events, the main interest is, of course, centered in the regular national matches which will begin August 22.

While the special matches are 14 in number and include many handsome and valuable trophies the regular national matches number but three—the national team match, a national individual rifle match and a national pistol match—but the results are far more important. The marksman who has the best aggregate score in the President's match or special matches and the national individual match wins the individual military championship of the United States. At present this honor is held by Major W. B. Martin of the Second Infantry, New Jersey National guard, who captured it in 1909 with a total aggregate score of 636.

The 14 special matches on the program for this week are President's match, Wimbledon cup match, Leech cup match, Marine cup match, individual long range type match, individual rapid fire match, press match, secretaries' match, Evans skirmish match regimental team match, company team match, interclub match and revolver team match.

Of these, the President's match is the most important, as the score in this match is added to the score in the national individual match in order to determine the winner of the national military championship.

The latter part of the week will be devoted largely to practicing by the various entries in the regular national matches. As these matches are established by Congress, which provides a trophy, and as they are shot under the auspices of the war department, some facts in regard to them may be of interest.

The national team match is open to teams of 12, representing the infantry, cavalry, navy, marine corps, military and naval academies and the organized militia of several states and territories, and the remaining two are to all citizens of the United States. No entrance fee is charged and liberal prizes are provided by Congress.

All matches are shot with the current military arms of the United States and the government furnishes the ammunition for the matches and for preliminary practice. The expense of training the teams and sending them to the national matches is borne by the states and territories from the $500,000 annually appropriated by Congress for rifle practice in the National guard, and in passing, it may be remarked that the gathering together of the best shots from all parts of the United States, the testing of ammunition, the ideas exchanged and the stimulus given to rifle practice is worth more than the match costs many times over.

Lieut. Col. R. K. Evans, executive officer of the three previous tournaments, will occupy the same position during the present one. At the national matches the executive officer is the supreme authority on the firing line. What he may do may be questioned later, but for the time being he is absolute authority, and all questions arising are referred to him for final settlement, and there is no appeal on the range. His assistant, as the title indicates, is in charge of the range and the pit officers. Each team is entitled to a representative on the range or in the pits, and about 100 regular army and National guard officers are utilized for this purpose. During the last national match approximately 100 regular army and 45 National guard officers were on duty. The range and pit officers alternate, so that they get experience in both capacities and also are relieved of the monotony attendant on service in the pits, where those who serve are designated as "sand rats."

The range at Camp Perry has 210 targets, with 50 targets at each of the ranges employed in the national match. Consequently, all the teams shoot at the same time, under the same conditions. The statistical officer is an individual that has his hands full of work. Every shot fired in the national matches is recorded on a blackboard and transcribed on a card, one card being allowed each team.

AVIATION MEETS IN FRANCE ARE A LOSS TO THE PROMOTERS

PARIS, Aug. 14.—The failure of most of the aviation meetings this summer has proved a great disappointment to promoters. After the success of the great meeting at Rheims last year hundreds of meetings were organized in every country in Europe and even in Egypt.

Beginning with the winter meets along the Riviera these meetings have continued week after week in almost every large city in France. In almost every case the results for the promoters have been disastrous.

Even Rheims, with the prestige of last year and a long series of broken records this summer, was a financial failure. Those identified with aviation place the blame upon the spirit of commercialism with which aeroplaning is being exploited. Aeroplane flights made such a vivid appeal to the imagination that promoters hung up enormous purses and paid fabulous sums to secure the presence of the few French cracks whose exploits had astonished the world.

Men like Faulhan, who, fourteen months ago had earned $25 a month as a mechanician, suddenly began demanding and getting from $15,000 to $25,000. Every pilot, whether experienced or not, wanted to excel his rival in sensational exploits.

The impression in France is that next year there will be not one meeting where there were 30 this year. Those interested in the real development of aviation, however, believe this will be an advantage rather than a drawback. It will, they think, tend to check the recklessness of young aviators.

SHEPPARD MAKES A RUNNING RECORD

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Melville W. Sheppard, the crack middle distance runner of the Irish-American Athletic club, set a new world's record for 600 yards today at Celtic park, when he broke the tape after covering the distance in 1:10 4-5. He cut one-fifth of a second from "Tommy" Burke's time, which has stood for 14 years.

SIXTEEN FLY IN NEW PASSENGER BALLOON

MUNICH, Aug. 14.—The dirigible balloon Parseval VI made a successful flight today with sixteen passengers aboard. The dirigible remained in the air for one hour and a half.

THE MYSTERIOUS BRITISH PRINCE WHO IS TO RULE THE CANADIANS

From Current Literature

In designating field marshal, his royal highness, the Duke of Connaught, to open the first parliament of United South Africa, next November, King George V promises to dispel for the first time much of the mystery in which the personality of the late King Edward's brother has so long been involved. The duke will disclose himself still more when he emerges next spring in the character of governor general of Canada As his royal highness will probably be in South Africa for some time—he has been shooting big game for weeks—and as it is unlikely that he would go to the dominion in the depth of winter, it is proposed the London Chronicle says, that Earl Grey retain the Ottawa post until such time as the Duke of Connaught can take it up The Canadian government is understood to have acquiesced in this arrangement which will postpone, for the present the gratification of a natural curiosity regarding the traits, the temper and the idiosyncracies of the least known, although in many respects the most conspicuous of all the children of the late Queen Victoria Although at 20 years of age, the Duke of Connaught was in Canada serving in the suppression of the Fenian raid, although he saw severe fighting in the Egyptian campaign and although he has served with the highest rank all over the British empire, he remains, as the Paris Gaulois observes, a stranger to the world He has shunned the crowd. He has brought up three children in complete seclusion He avoids with an almost morbid dread anything calculated to render him the cynosure of the public eye.

BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE.

IN THE MATTER OF WARD STANTON RUSSELL, BANKRUPT

To the Honorable Robert E. Lewis, Judge of the District Court of the United States, for the District of Colorado

Ward Stanton Russell of Elizabeth, in the County of Elbert and State of Colorado in said District respectfully represents that on the 8th day of February last past, he was duly adjudged bankrupt under the acts of Congress relating to bankruptcy, that he has duly surrendered all his property and rights of property and has fully complied with all the requirements of said acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy.

WHEREFORE, he prays that he may be decreed by the court to have a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate under said bankrupt acts, except such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge

Dated this 6th day of August 1910.
WARD STANTON RUSSELL,
Bankrupt.

ORDER OF NOTICE THEREON.
DISTRICT OF COLORADO—ss

On this eighth day of August, A. D. 1910, on reading the foregoing petition, it is

ORDERED BY THE COURT that a hearing be had on the same on the 12th day of September, 1910, before George M Irwin Referee in Bankruptcy of said Court, at his office in Colorado Springs, in said district, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and that notice thereof be published in the Colorado Springs Gazette, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at the said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petitioner should not be granted

AND IT IS FURTHER ORDERED BY THE COURT, that the Referee shall send by mail to all known creditors copies of said petition and this order, addressed to them at their places of residence as stated

SLEEPLESSNESS.

From Lippincott's

Various methods of courting sleep when sleep is coy have been recommended by the confident persons who always have cures for colds, but the fallacy which has exploded with the quietest repose is that which conveys the advice to count up to a hundred or a thousand or a million The man who can't sleep is irritated any way because he can't sleep and by the time he has arrived at 766, and has suddenly forgotten whether it was 766 or 666 or 676 or 767 he is so enraged that it alone keeps him awake another half hour

It is to some with the attempt to count sheep jumping over a fence The very stupidity of the proceeding is irritating and starts the brain on a wave of activity that delays sleep still further In fact it is doubtful whether any mathematical stunts soothe the brain when it is nervous and even if they do there are almost as many different kinds of brains as there are numbers, up to infinity, so what is the use of a general prescription

A man who occasionally suffers from sleeplessness has this to say I always know when I am dropping off to a natural sleep The moment comes when the ordinary things of every day life assume weird or preposterous groupings For instance, if I seem to think of a cow looking out of the corner of her eye with an arch glance or a caterpillar directing an orchestra I know that sleep hovers near There has been no connection between my previous thoughts and a cow or a caterpillar Yet that fact is a surety of repose in itself I know I'll be asleep in a few seconds At the same time, I mustn't be too sure about it If I rouse myself to the extent of feeling a distinct assurance that I'll soon be asleep, I wake myself up again thereby and ruin my chances of a good sleep I have made that mistake more than once, and now I endeavor to cultivate vagueness in my antesomnial thoughts"

It was suggested to this individual that a deliberate invention of such impossible situations might be a cure for sleeplessness in his case, but he retorted that the effect of imagining a tin horn dancing in the center of a circle of mucilage bottles, or the hands of a clock making derisive gestures at the moon immediately started the brain waves trolling tumultuously and defeated the object in view He sighed as he said this, and one felt that his case was indescribably sad
